Introduction

The Alberta Precision Laboratories Ltd. (APL) Non-Union Exempt Employees (NUEE) Terms and Conditions of Employment (Terms and Conditions) outlines the terms of employment for the various groups of APL employees exempt from collective bargaining.

The Terms and Conditions contained in this document are subject to review and may be amended at periodic intervals as deemed appropriate by APL.

The Terms and Conditions replace and take precedence over any former policy, procedure, and terms and conditions document relating to terms of employment. The Terms and Conditions outlined in this document apply to all groups of Non-Union Exempt Employees (NUEE) except where otherwise and specifically noted.

The terms "manager" and "leader" are used as a general terms throughout the document and refers to the individual who the worker reports to per the APL organizational structure including Medical and Scientific staff.

Laboratory Physicians:

Notwithstanding the above, all Laboratory Physicians (LP) are currently bound by the Laboratory Physician Agreement (LPA between Alberta Health Services (AHS), Alberta Public Laboratories Ltd. (APL), Alberta Medical Association (AMA) and Alberta Society of Laboratory Physicians (ASLP). In the event that there is a direct conflict between Laboratory Physician administration per the APL NUEE Terms and Conditions and the LPA, the LPA shall supersede these Terms and Conditions.

Laboratory Physicians are members of the APL Medical Staff and are expected to comply with AHS Medical Staff Bylaws and Rules as well as all relevant organizational policies, provincial regulations and legislation. The Terms and Conditions that are specific to Laboratory Physicians, are identified as such in this document.

Guiding Principles

This section is under development.

Employment

Recruitment

APL strives to provide safe, healthy and harmonious working conditions for its employees. APL is committed to diversity and equity in its employment practices. The (APL Policy under review) and all of the associated policies and procedures are applicable to the recruitment and hiring into all NUEE positions.

Probation

All new employees (excluding Laboratory Physicians) shall serve a probationary period of 6 months.

The probationary period allows APL to evaluate new employees while giving employees time to demonstrate their ability to learn and perform their job. APL can terminate employment without notice or pay in lieu of notice (except as required by the Alberta Employment Standards Code), any time prior to or at the end of the probationary period for failure to successfully complete the probationary period.

The probationary period may be extended up to a maximum of 12 months. Extensions to the probationary period must be communicated in writing to the employee.

Laboratory Physicians:

Laboratory Physicians serve a probation of a minimum of 12 months. For Laboratory Physicians, APL medical appointment has a minimum one year probationary period from the commencement date which is administered under the AHS Medical Staff Bylaws and Rules. The probationary period may be extended up to a maximum of 24 months. Extensions to the probationary period will be communicated in writing to the physician

Working Environment

Hours of Work

The standard annual hours of work is 2022.75. Employees generally work 7.75 hours per day. Actual work schedules, and potential impact to entitlements, can vary according to business needs and service requirements, within the bounds of Employment Standards legislation. All examples used within this document related to entitlements (i.e. personal leave days, vacation and statutory holidays) are calculated based on a full-time equivalent (FTE) which is defined as a 5 day work week at 7.75 hours per day and 2022.75 hours per annum.

Any exceptions to the annual hours of work must be approved, including the impact this would have on the calculation of any entitlements.

Laboratory Physicians

The Laboratory Physician Agreement does not define service days in hours per year. However, for the purpose of pay administration and entitlements, the definition used by APL for annual hours of work is 2022.75 for 1.0 FTE as described in this section. Part Time Laboratory Physicians shall have their hours of work prorated by FTE.

Redeployment

During emergencies and other critical periods to support patient care and continuity of business operations, you may be reassigned to different sites or to perform different duties than you normally would perform, including work that would normally be done by unionized employees. Hours of work and shift schedules during the redeployment period may also differ from your normal work schedule and is subject to change with short notice. NUEEs being redeployed will have sufficient skills, orientation and training to perform the work, and personal protective equipment will be provided to perform work safely. Further details and decisions including applicable compensation during a redeployment will be shared at the time these situations occur.

Conduct

Conflict of Interest

APL is committed to promoting a standard of conduct that preserves and enhances public confidence in the integrity, objectivity, and impartiality of our clinical and business activities. APL relies on you to uphold these standards by ensuring outside activities or financial interests do not interfere or influence your decision-making processes.

In accordance with the (APL Policy under review) you are responsible to be aware of and avoid potential, perceived or real conflict of interest situations. You are required to promptly disclose and address any conflicts should they arise.

Code of Conduct

The (APL Policy under review) outlines the values, principles and standards of conduct that guide our daily actions and interactions. It is your responsibility to understand and comply with the APL Code of Conduct when acting for, or on behalf of, APL.

Further information on your work environment (including health, safety and respectful workplace) can be found within the (APL Policies under review).

Security of Property

All APL property (including supplies, materials, equipment, vehicles, buildings, etc.) and Information Technology resources, including the Internet, electronic forms of communication (email) and the security of personal and health information are intended for APL business purposes.

You are responsible for the security and protection of APL property and information technology resources that are entrusted to you. You shall exercise careful judgment when using the Internet, Intranet, email, personal and health information or other Information & Technology Management resources. (APL Policies under review).

Performance

Performance Management and Assessment

This section is under development.

Professional Credentials and Memberships

If you possess professional credentials or membership in a specific professional association or college, that is relevant to your position, it is your responsibility to maintain good standing. In the event your registration, license or membership changes, you must notify your manager as soon as possible.

Professional credentials or membership fees that are related to your position, as determined by your manager, may be reimbursed up to one fee per fiscal year. In cases where an additional license is essential to remain accredited, this fee may also be reimbursed. This will be at the discretion of individual managers.

Casual employees are not eligible for reimbursement. Temporary employees with an employment term of 12 months or greater are eligible.

If you are on Maternity or Parental Leave, you are eligible for reimbursement while on leave. Proof of expenditure (original receipts) must be provided and approved by your manager before reimbursement can be made.

Laboratory Physicians are required to maintain licensure with the College of Physicians & Surgeons of Alberta and medico-legal protection through the Canadian Medical Protective Association at their own expense and are not eligible for reimbursement of costs.

Total Compensation

Total Compensation Philosophy

APL recognizes the importance of attracting, retaining, and motivating employees. The APL total compensation program rewards individual performance and contribution, while maintaining overall market competitiveness. The APL total compensation program is governed by the (APL Policy under review)

The Salary Management Guidelines provides information on the foundational philosophy, guiding principles, and approval levels required for the different levels of salary, and additional guidelines of the APL total compensation program. Salaries that are not in compliance with the Salary Management Guidelines in the absence of proper approvals will be adjusted to comply with the Salary Management Guidelines.

Compensation for Laboratory Physicians is a total compensation model based on the remuneration grid identified in the Laboratory Physician Agreement and is pro-rated based on FTE. The value of a Laboratory Physician employee's total salary and benefit package will be aligned to the appropriate remuneration grid amount identified in the Laboratory Physician Agreement; thus ensuring equity between employee and contractor compensation amounts.

Compensation

Pay Periods

On your designated pay days, Payroll Services deposits pay directly into your bank account. The (policy under review) outlines APL's payment and payroll responsibilities.

On-Call & Call Back

Certain critical operational areas may find it necessary to assign employees to be on-call outside of normal working hours. There are several types of on-call programs; you will be notified by your leader if you are eligible for payment in accordance with one of the On Call programs below

APL Human Resources will review and may change the rates periodically.

Management On-Call/Call Back Program:

- Must be assigned to a Management on-call rotation.
- Assignment is usually on a weekly rotational basis.
- Usually is manager or above level designated.
- Can usually provide direction via telephone based on established protocols.
- May be required to return to the worksite to manage emergent situations, but such a return to the worksite is not eligible for call-back pay.
- Management on-call rotation is assigned and approved by the APL Chief Operating Officer
- Paid a weekly stipend amount for every week designated as on-call.

Clinical Doctoral Scientists - On-Call/Call-Back Program

Clinical Doctoral Scientists are responsible for providing On-Call/Call Back duties. Clinical Doctoral Scientists may be eligible to receive remuneration for these duties. This will be at the discretion of their Clinical Section Chief, Sector Medical Director, Provincial Program Lead/Medical Director as authorized by the Chief Medical Laboratory Officer (CMLO).

- The Clinical Doctoral Scientist on-call rotation is approved by the APL Chief Medical Laboratory Officer
- Must be assigned to a Clinical Doctoral Scientist on-call rotation as directed by their Clinical Section Chief or Sector Medical Director or Provincial Program Lead/Medical Director.
- Assignment is usually on a weekly rotational basis. Alternative on-call rotations may be approved by the CMLO or designate in consultation with the CMLO.
- Can usually provide consultation remotely based on established protocols.
- May be required to return to the worksite to manage emergent situations, but such a return to the worksite is not eligible for call-back pay.
- Paid a fixed stipend amount for the period of time designated as on-call.

Laboratory Physicians - Specialist On-Call/Call-Back Program (under review)

Laboratory Physicians (LP) are responsible for providing on-call duties. Laboratory Physicians may be eligible to receive AHS Specialist On-Call (SOC) remuneration. Eligibility requirements for SOC programs are set through Alberta Health and AHS. SOC stipends are paid directly by AHS and are in addition to the Laboratory Physician remuneration grid amount.

Any other on-call programs established by APL of which LP are eligible are at the discretion of APL.

Critical Operations On-Call:

- Not for management staff except in approved extenuating circumstances for the performance of front-line/clinical/critical operations on-call functions.
- Not applicable to Clinical Doctoral Scientists or Laboratory Physicians
- For positions who are assigned on-call duties outside of normal working hours.
- Must be assigned to an on-call schedule and approved by their leader.
- Assignments can be on a daily basis (at the discretion of management).
- When you are scheduled to be on-call, you must be ready and available to come into work during your scheduled on-call time which may include any of the following instances: before or after your regularly scheduled hours; on a day when you are not scheduled to work; and on a named holiday.
- A return to the work site triggers call-back pay in accordance with the call-back provisions.
- May be able to provide direction or perform work functions via telephone based on established protocols which triggers call-back pay in accordance with the call-back provisions.
- If you are on-call during a regular work day you will be paid $3.00 per hour for any hours outside of your normal hours of work (e.g., 1700 hours to 0800 hours).
- If you are on-call during a weekend or named holiday, you will be paid $4.25 per hour for each hour you are scheduled to be on-call, except for those hours for which you receive call-back pay.

Critical Operations Call-Back:

Certain clinical or critical operational areas may find it necessary to have an employee return to the work site after normal working hours to address operational requirements. If you are not already compensated through an on-call/call-back program and are called- back to your work site or required to work from a remote location, you will receive compensation as follows:

If the call-back requires the individual to return to the workplace:

- Call-back is paid for all hours worked at 1.5X (BROP) or a minimum of 3 hours at 1.5X BROP for each call-back.
- On-call pay ceases for the hours an employee receives call-back pay.
- Pay for work performed is counted from the time you arrive at work.
- Travel back to the work place is not reimbursed.

If the call-back does not require the individual to return to the workplace and the individual has been scheduled for front-line/clinical/critical operations on-call:

- Time is tracked cumulatively for all call-backs within the on-call shift.
- If the total cumulative time is less than 3 hours, 3 hours at 1.5X BROP will be paid.
- If the total cumulative time is more than 3 hours, actual time worked at 1.5X BROP will be paid.

Employees already compensated through an on-call/call-back program are not eligible for additional Call-Back pay

Shift Premium

If you are required to work a scheduled shift during the evening, night or on a weekend, which does not normally include additional hours over the normal work day, such as overtime or flextime, you may be eligible for a shift premium. In these circumstances, a premium of $2.25 per hour will be paid in addition to the normal compensation rate. The evening or night shift premium can be stacked with the weekend shift premium (i.e. $2.25 per hour plus $2.25 per hour). If the majority of your shift falls between the designated hours, you will receive the premium payment for the whole shift. APL Human Resources will review the rate periodically. Shift Premiums are not applicable to Clinical Doctoral Scientists or Laboratory Physicians.

Shifts eligible for shift premiums:

- Evening shift - 1500 to 2300 hours
- Night shift - 2300 to 0700 hours
- Weekend Shift - 2300 hours on Friday to 0700 on Monday Hours worked on-call or call-back are not eligible for shift premiums.

Overtime

Ideally work required outside your regular hours should be managed through mutually agreed upon flexible averaging agreements, as discussed with your manager.

If you are in a supervisory, managerial, professional, confidential capacity or any other position that is exempt from overtime under Employment Standards legislation, you are not eligible for overtime. However in certain exceptional circumstances, when you are required to backfill or cover a front-line position, you may be eligible for overtime. Clinical Doctoral Scientists and Laboratory Physician employees are not eligible for overtime.

In exceptional circumstances, overtime for employees who are eligible (as per Employment Standards Legislation), may be pre-approved by the manager. If so, eligible employees will be compensated at 1.5X their basic rate of pay (BROP) for hours in excess of 8 hours per day and 44 hours per week.

If your regular work shifts are in excess of 8 hours per day or 44 hours per week, overtime will be paid for any time worked beyond regular hours of work. For example, if you typically work 12 hour shifts, overtime will be paid for any time worked greater than 12 hours per day or 44 hours per week.

Overflow Work Assignments for Laboratory Physicians

Overflow Work assignments are completed outside of regular Service Days. Overflow Work payment is outside of the Laboratory Physician's regular salary and will be paid at the locum daily rate. APL policy and procedures will be followed for the administration of Overflow Work.

Northern Incentives Program

The following allowances are available under the Northern Incentives Program \(under review\):

- Northern Allowance (for employees whose work sites located above the 57th parallel).
- Remote Retention Allowance (for employees whose work sites located between the 55th and 57th parallels).
- Fort McMurray Allowance (for employees whose work sites located in the Municipality of Wood Buffalo).
- Travel Reimbursement (1 round trip per calendar year to any destination in Alberta for employees whose work sites located above the 57th parallel).
- Laboratory Physicians and Clinical Doctoral Scientists are excluded from this program, but may be provided some special consideration at the discretion of the Chief Medical Laboratory Officer.

Remuneration from Other Payers

If an Employee performs work for an external organization while on APL time or using APL resources, APL leadership must be made aware prior to the services being rendered and appropriate steps taken in accordance with APL's Conflict of Interest policies and procedures (APL Policy under review). Further, if that work results in payment, an assessment shall be made in advance as to whether that payment shall be remitted directly to APL.

Benefits

Coverage

APL provides a complete and customizable range of benefits for its employees, recognizing their unique and diverse needs. Detailed information on enrolment, changes in coverage and carriers can be found electronically on APL's Human Resources Insite page containing information APL - Employee Resources | Insite \(albertahealthservices.ca\).

Plans

The benefit plans are designed to accommodate the needs of a diverse workforce providing choice and flexibility. As part of the APL Total Rewards Strategy, APL offers you and your family benefit plans which include:

- Group Life Insurance;
- Accidental Death & Dismemberment (AD&D);
- Income Protection [i.e., salary continuance and long-term disability (LTD)];
- Supplementary Health Options (including travel insurance - out-of-province/Canada emergency health coverage);
- Dental options;
- Optional Critical Illness;
- Health Spending Account; and
- Savings Account(s) (i.e., Group RRSP/TFSA).

To be eligible for this plan you must be:

- Regular full-time;
- Regular part-time, with a minimum of 15 hours per week; or
- Temporary with a term of employment at least 6 months and a minimum of 15 hours per week

Casual employees are not eligible.

If you are part-time, the minimum and maximum credit amounts are prorated according to your regular FTE. If you commence employment part way through a calendar year, the credits are prorated based on the number of full months left within the year. If you have an FTE or salary change mid-year, flex credits will not be adjusted until the next allocation period for the next benefits year. Flex credits for the next calendar year are based on annual salary processed in the payroll systems on or around November 20th of each year. If you hold more than one NUEE position, the FTE amount for all positions will be added together to determine eligibility and flex credits.

Reinstatement

If you are rehired or move from an ineligible position back to an eligible position during the same calendar year, your flex allocation in place at the time you previously left the eligible position will be reinstated; however, no new credits will be provided. If the rehire date falls within a different calendar year you will be required to go through the initial allocation process and previous forfeited flex credits are not reinstated.

When Coverage Starts

There is no waiting period for the Life insurance, AD&D Insurance and LTD plans. You are covered from the first day you are actively at work in a benefit eligible position.

Coverage for Optional Life takes effect once approval of your application is received from the insurer provided you are actively at work. Coverage for Optional AD&D Insurance takes effect the date you apply for the coverage.

Coverage for Supplementary Health and Dental plans commence on the first of the month following your date of employment in an eligible position. If your commencement date is the first day of the month, you will be covered from that date.

Credits allocated to a spending account will commence the first day of the month following your employment in a benefit eligible position. Group savings account credits will be deposited monthly to the carrier. You must open an account(s) within the required timeframe, to enable the transfer of these credits to these accounts.

Pension

The APL Pension Policy will take precedent. The following is a summary of the Pension Plans for APL.

APL provides a defined benefit pension plan (LAPP) to eligible employees. Contributions are shared between the employee and APL based on a percentage of earnings. Participation is:

- Mandatory when you are regularly scheduled to work an average of 30 hours per week or more over a complete shift cycle, with no foreseen end to employment.
- Optional when you are regularly scheduled to work an average of 14 hours per week but less than an average of 30 hours per week over a complete shift cycle, with no foreseen end to employment or are a temporary employees with a predetermined end date of six months or greater and regularly scheduled to work an average of 30 hours or more per week over a complete shift cycle.

Former CLS employees that were employed by CLS prior to December 10, 2018 and who met the mandatory participation criteria in LAPP and opted to remain in the employer matching APL Sun Life Financial Retirement Plan will remain in the APL Sun Life Financial Retirement Plan.

APL employees that were employed by APL prior to December 10, 2018, and fell under ineligible participation enrollment in LAPP but were enrolled in the APL Sun Life Financial Retirement Plan shall follow LAPP eligibility criteria.

Once an employee participates in LAPP, membership and contributions will continue until employment terminates or employee meets the criteria noted the APL pension policy

Salary Continuance

Salary continuance provides you with income when you are absent from work due to non-occupational illness or injury. You may be required to provide medical documentation of the absence.

If you qualify, you shall receive 100% of your basic income for a maximum of 16 weeks of illness per calendar year. The maximum duration applied to any one related illness/injury period is 16 calendar weeks.

There is a reinstatement provision and upon a return to work, the salary continuance benefit already used will be replenished at 80% of pay within that calendar year. If a subsequent illness or disability occurs within the same calendar year then you will still have a maximum of 16 weeks of income protection, but the period paid at 100% will be replaced with 80% for the length of the previous illness or injury period already paid that year.

Salary continuance benefits are replenished at 100% for a maximum of 16 weeks at the beginning of each calendar year, provided that you are actively at work on January 1st. If you are not actively at work on January 1st, salary continuance benefits are replenished at 100% for a maximum of 16 calendar weeks once you have been actively at work for 2 calendar weeks.

If you are a part-time employee or a temporary employee with an employment term greater than 6 months, you shall have a maximum of 16 calendar weeks of salary continuance based on your FTE.

If the employee experiences another unrelated illness/injury in the same calendar year as the employee has already used 16 weeks of salary continuance at 100%, the employee is now only entitled to 80% salary continuance for an additional 16 weeks.

Unpaid Long-term Illness and Injury Leave

After completing 90 days of continuous employment, employees who are working less than 15 hours per week and temporary employees with a term of less than 6 months are eligible for this leave. You may request up to 16 weeks unpaid long-term illness and injury leave. You will be required to provide a medical certificate stating the expected duration of the leave prior to the commencement of the leave or as soon is reasonable.

Paid Time Off

APL provides various paid time off provisions, as well as additional paid time away from work to conduct personal business and meet family responsibilities.

Named Holidays

If you are a full-time regular or temporary employee, you are provided with time off for each of the following named holidays:

| Named Holiday | Date |
|----------------------|---------------------------|
| New Year's Day | January 1st |
| Alberta Family Day | Third Monday in February |
| Good Friday | As designated |
| Victoria Day | Monday before May 25th |
| Canada Day | July 1st |
| August Civic Holiday | First Monday in August |
| Labour Day | First Monday in September |
| Thanksgiving Day | Second Monday in October |
| Remembrance Day | November 11th |
| Christmas Day | December 25th |
| Boxing Day | December 26th | and any day proclaimed to be a holiday by:

- (i) The Government of the Province of Alberta; or
- (ii) The Government of Canada.

In addition, if you are employed on or before July 1, you shall be granted a "floater" holiday. This holiday is accrued (i.e. loaded into pay systems) on January 1st of each year. If you start after January 1 and before or on July 1, you will have your floater holiday manually loaded. Floater holidays cannot be paid out or carried forward and will be forfeited if not used by the end of the calendar year. You and your manager should work together to ensure time is scheduled and taken at a mutually agreeable time.

If a named holiday falls on your scheduled day off, you will be provided with an alternate day off with pay as designated by your manager.

If the named holiday falls on your regularly scheduled day of work, and you are required to work on that day, you will be compensated at 1.5X your basic hourly rate for that day. In addition, an alternate day off with pay will be scheduled. This is not applicable to Laboratory Physicians.

If you are a part-time, casual, or temporary part-time employee, you shall receive 5% of your Basic Rate of Pay (BROP) on each pay date in lieu of named holidays. This 5% payment in lieu of named holidays means you will only receive additional pay if the named holiday falls on your regularly scheduled day of work and you are required to work on that day.

Vacation

Vacation is an important benefit that contributes to a healthy and balanced lifestyle. By fully using your vacation time, not only do you contribute to your physical and mental wellbeing, you assist APL in maintaining a sustainable organization. The management of vacation, including scheduling, accrual, carry-over and payout is outlined in the (APL Policy under review).

The vacation year runs from April 1 through March 31. During this period, NUEEs will receive time off based on their years of service and applicable accrual rate.

Please note: the example outlined below, related to the number of vacation days, is calculated based on a 1.0 FTE which is defined as a 5 day work week at 7.75 hours per day and 2022.75 hours per annum.

Senior Leadership, Management, Clinical Doctoral Scientists, and Professional

| Completed Years of Service | Vacation Days | Accrual Rate |

| Completed Years of Service | Vacation Days | Accrual Rate |
| 0+ | 25 | 10% |

Laboratory Physicians are entitled to 25 vacation days per year, per 1.0 FTE. Currently, vacation banks are loaded at the beginning of each vacation year for Laboratory Physician employees Actively at Work. Upon hire, return from Leaves of Absence, or termination, vacation entitlement is pro-rated for partial years Actively at Work. Accordingly, vacation banks may be reviewed and corrected as deemed appropriate by APL.

Temporary employees with an employment term of 12 months or greater will accrue a vacation bank. Casual employees and temporary employees with an employment term less than 12 months will receive a percentage in lieu each pay date based on the applicable accrual rate.

Part-time employees will accrue vacation at a pro-rated amount that is based on their applicable FTE.

You should use all of your vacation accrual each year. You and your manager should work together to ensure vacation time is scheduled and taken at a mutually agreeable time.

If you are admitted to hospital during the course of vacation, the time away can be considered as salary continuance if satisfactory medical evidence is provided for the period of hospitalization and recovery.

Supplementary Vacation

In recognition of long-service, eligible NUEEs who reach certain service milestone anniversaries will receive an additional 38.75 hours of vacation (based on 1.0 FTE, pro-rated for regular part-time employees). At five-year intervals starting at 25 years of service, eligible employees will receive a separate bank of supplementary vacation to be used in addition to their regular annual vacation entitlement. Supplementary vacation is banked in the pay period following the employment anniversary date and taken at a time that is mutually agreeable and before the next milestone anniversary. Unused supplementary vacation is forfeited at the end of the five-year period and the bank cannot exceed 38.75 hours. Employees cannot request a bank payout for supplementary vacation.

Casuals, temporary employees that are not benefits eligible, Students, Nurse Practitioners, and Lab Pathologists are not eligible for supplementary vacation.

Regular part-time employees are eligible for pro-rated supplementary vacation hours calculated using hours worked in the previous vacation year as a percentage of total hours, multiplied by 2%.

| Anniversary Milestone | Supplementary Vacation | |
|-----------------------|-------------------------------|----------------------------------|
| | Full-Time (1.0 FTE, hours) | Part-Time (% of hours worked) |
| 25 | 38.75 | 2% |

| 35 | 38.75 | 2% |
| 40 | 38.75 | 2% |
| 45 | 38.75 | 2% |

Personal Leave

Personal Leave days are made available to you to support health, wellness and work-life balance and provide time for you to conduct personal business or meet family responsibilities. When requesting personal leave, you and your manager should work together to ensure time is scheduled and taken at a mutually agreeable time.

You will receive up to nine paid personal leave days each year, based on an April 1st through March 31st fiscal year and working on a regular full-time 1.0 FTE, 7.75 hours per day and 2022.75 hours per annum. Regardless of the length of the workday, you will receive a total of 69.75 personal leave hours and the time can be taken off as hours. If your regular work hours are greater than the standard 2022.75 annual hours, personal leave hours will be adjusted accordingly.

Allocation of personal leave is as follows:

- If your employment commences after April 1st of the year, your personal leave days will be prorated based on your start date.
- If you are a part-time employee, personal leave days are also prorated based on your FTE. Part-time employees with less than 0.4 FTE are not eligible for personal leave days.
- If you are a full-time temporary employee with an employment term greater than 12 months, you are eligible for personal leave days.
- Casual employees are not eligible for personal leave days.
- At the discretion of your manager, part-time employees with less than 0.4 FTE and casual employees that are not eligible for personal leave days may be granted time off without pay.
