

Community Innovation Grant For People Affected by Dementia

Albertans have expressed a desire to stay in their homes and communities as they age with the right supports. In order to support individuals to remain at home, integrated community-based health and social services are required that optimize individuals independence, quality of life and wellbeing, including those Albertans that have dementia.

Increasing knowledge and capacity to provide integrated, person-centred services for Albertans impacted by dementia (including people living with dementia and their caregivers) is key to supporting people affected by dementia to live well in their communities.

Opportunity

An internal and external request for proposal will be issued by Alberta Health Services in June 2019. This grant initiative, funded by Alberta Health, provides one-time funding to support community and health service providers to develop and implement innovative projects and/or introduce or build on new and creative approaches to person-centred dementia services in Alberta. One or two year grants of a minimum $25,000.00 to a maximum of $75,000.00 will be issued to the successful proponents.

This opportunity is open to interested and eligible community-based organizations, recreation or arts and cultural organizations, continuing care service providers, public, not for profit and for profit organizations and residential care providers. This includes community groups, non-governmental and governmental organizations in urban and rural communities, including Indigenous communities.
